As a result of our common shares being listed on the Taiwan Stock Exchange, we are required on an on-going basis to file with the Taiwan Stock Exchange unaudited unconsolidated financial statements as of and for the year-to-date period ending on each of March 31 and September 30. We also regularly release unconsolidated financial statements as of and for the six months ended June 30 and as of and for the year ended December 31. These unconsolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the Republic of China, also called ROC GAAP, which differ in some material respects from generally accepted accounting principles in the United States, also called US GAAP. For a discussion of the material differences between ROC GAAP and US GAAP, see note 24 to our consolidated financial statements in our Registration Statement on Form F-3 (Registration No. 333-14218), initially filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission on December 21, 2001 (as amended, the "Registration Statement"). In addition, by their nature, unconsolidated financial statements are not comparable in material respects with consolidated financial statements, and should not be compared to the consolidated financial statements for prior periods. Because we have released certain unaudited unconsolidated financial statements for 2001, we are required under applicable rules of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission to include those unaudited unconsolidated financial statements in the prospectus constituting part of our Registration Statement.

The unaudited unconsolidated financial statements do not consolidate the financial position and operations of any of our subsidiaries. Instead, the unconsolidated financial statements account for our investments in our subsidiaries, including TSMC International Investment, our holding company for WaferTech, by using equity method accounting, which differs materially from consolidation. Other differences resulting from nonconsolidation include:

- the level of our bank debt which is zero on an unconsolidated level because all of our bank debt is borrowed by one or more of our subsidiaries;
- intercompany sales between Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company Limited and its subsidiaries are not eliminated; and
- individual assets, liabilities, revenue and expenses of unconsolidated subsidiaries are not included in the unconsolidated financial statements.

For a discussion of the accounting policies used in the unaudited unconsolidated financial statements, see note 2 to the unaudited unconsolidated financial statements. Because we account for subsidiaries in our unconsolidated accounts based on the equity method, our unaudited unconsolidated net assets and net income would generally be the same as in our consolidated accounts. Other amounts in other line items may be materially different in our unconsolidated financial statements from our consolidated financial statements. We can give no assurance as to what the relative level of unconsolidated and consolidated assets, net sales, net income or any other financial statement line item will be for the year ended December 31, 2001.

TAIWAN SEMICONDUCTOR MANUFACTURING COMPANY LTD.

NOTES TO UNCONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(Amounts in Thousand New Taiwan Dollars, Unless Specified Otherwise)

1. GENERAL

Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company Ltd (the "Company"), a Republic of China corporation, is engaged mainly in the manufacture, sale, packaging, and testing of integrated circuits and other semiconductor devices, and the manufacture and design of masks. TSMC was incorporated as a venture among the Government of the Republic of China, acting through the Development Fund of the Executive Yuan; Philips Electronics N.V. and certain of its affiliates (Philips); and certain other private investors. In September 1994, its shares were listed on the Taiwan Stock Exchange. In October 1997, TSMC listed its shares of stock on the New York Stock Exchange in the form of American Depositary Shares.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of presentation

The financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the Republic of China. The significant accounting principles adopted by the Company are as follows:

Cash and Cash equivalents

Government bonds acquired under agreements that provide for their repurchase within less than three months from date of purchase are classified as cash equivalents.

Allowance for doubtful receivables

Allowance for doubtful receivables are provided based on a review of the collectibility of individual receivables.

Sales and allowance for sales returns and others

Sales are recognized when titles of products and risks of ownerships are transferred to customers, primarily upon shipment. Allowance and related provisions for sales returns and others are provided based on experience; such provisions are deducted from sales and related costs are deducted from cost of sales.

Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of standard cost (adjusted to approximate weighted-average cost) or market value. Market value represents net realizable value for finished goods and work in process, and replacement value for raw materials, supplies and spare parts.

Long-term investments

Investments in shares of stock of companies wherein the Company exercises significant influence on their operating and financial policy decisions are accounted for using the equity method. The difference between the investment cost and the Company's proportionate equity in the net assets of the investee on the date of acquisition is amortized over five years using the straight-line method. Such amortization and the Company's proportionate share in the net income or net loss of investee companies are recognized as components of "Equity in net income or net loss in investee companies - net" account. When the Company subscribes to additional investee shares at a percentage different from its existing equity interest, the resulting carrying amount of the investment in equity investee differs from the amount of Company's proportionate share in the investee's net equity. The Company records such difference as an adjustment to "Capital surplus" and the "Long-term investments" accounts, respectively.

In the event an investee offsets its capital surplus, excluding reserve from asset revaluation, against its accumulated deficit, which is recorded as a debit to the "Capital surplus" account and a credit to "Retained earnings" account, the Company also records the entry by its proportionate share of the investee capital surplus that was generated subsequent to its acquisition of investee interest, excluding reserve from asset revaluation.

If an investee's functional currency is a foreign currency, "Cumulative translation adjustments" would result from the process of translating the investees' financial statements into the functional currency of the Company.

Other stock investments are accounted using the cost method. These investments are stated at cost less declines in market value of listed stocks or declines in value of unlisted stocks which is considered irrecoverable; such reductions are charged to shareholders' equity or current income, respectively. Cash dividends are recognized as income in the year received but are accounted for as reduction in the carrying value of the long-term investment if the dividends are received in the same year that the related investments are acquired.

Stock dividends are recognized only as an increase in the number of stocks held on the ex-dividend date.

Investments in foreign mutual funds are stated at the lower of cost or net asset value (NAV). Write-downs of cost and write-ups to original acquisition cost resulting from subsequent recovery of the NAV are debited or credited to shareholders' equity.

The costs of investments sold are determined using the weighted-average method.

The Company's proportionate share in the gains from sales of property, plant and equipment, net of the applicable income tax, included as its share in the net income or net loss of equity-accounted investee companies for the current year is reclassified to capital surplus from retained earnings. Such amount is reclassified back to retained earnings when the Company subsequently disposes the related investment. Also, if an investee company has unrealized loss on its own long-term investment which is evaluated using the lower-of-cost-or-market method, the Company recognizes that unrealized loss in proportion to the Company's equity interest and is recorded in an account that is a component of its own shareholders' equity.

Gain or loss on transactions with investee companies wherein the Company owned at least 20% of the outstanding common stock but less than a controlling interest are deferred in proportion to the ownership percentage until realized through a transaction with a third party. The entire amount of the gains or losses on sales to majority-owned subsidiaries are deferred until such gains or losses are realized through the subsequent sale of the related products to third parties. On the other hand, if the gains or losses arose from sales by the investee companies or majority-owned subsidiaries to the Company, such gains or losses are deferred in proportion to the ownership percentage until realized through transactions with third parties.

Property, plant and equipment and assets leased to others

Property, plant and equipment and assets leased to others are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Major additions, renewals, betterment and interest expenses incurred during the construction period are capitalized. Maintenance and repairs are expensed currently.

Property, plant and equipment covered by agreements qualifying as capital leases are carried at the lower of the present value of all minimum future rental payments, or the market value of the property at the inception date of the lease. The lessee's periodic rental payment includes the purchase price of the leased property, and the interest expense.

Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over these estimated service lives: Buildings - 10 to 20 years; machinery and equipment - 5 to 10 years; and office equipment - 3 to 5 years.

Upon sale or disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment, the related cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts, and any gain or loss is credited or charged to income. Any such gain, less applicable income tax, is reclassified to capital surplus at the end of the year (before the relevant regulation was amended).

Goodwill

Goodwill arising from the business combinations is amortized using the straight-line method over 10 years.

Deferred charges

These consist of software and system design costs, technology know-how, bond issue costs and technology license fee. These are amortized as follows: software and system design costs - three years, technology know-how - five years, bond issue costs - the term of the bonds, and technology license fee - the term of the contract or economic useful lives of the related technology.

Pension costs

Net periodic pension costs are recorded on the basis of actuarial calculations. Unrecognized net transition obligation is amortized over 25 years.

Deferred gain on sale-leaseback

The gain on the sale of property is deferred. Such deferred gain is then amortized as follows: (a) operating lease - adjustment of rental expenses over leasing period, and (b) capital lease - adjustment of depreciation over the estimated useful life or leasing period.

Income tax

The Company adopted the inter-period income tax allocation method. Deferred income taxes are recognized for the tax effects of taxable temporary differences, unused tax credits, and operating loss carry forwards. Valuation allowance is provided for deferred income tax assets that are not certain to be realized. A deferred tax asset or liability is, according to the classification of its related asset or liability, classified as current or non-current. However, if a deferred asset or liability cannot be related to an asset or liability in the financial statements, it is classified as current or non-current based on the expected reversal date of temporary differences.

Adjustments of prior years' tax liabilities are added to or deducted from the current year's tax provision.

Income taxes (10%) on unappropriated earnings generated starting January 1, 1998 are recorded as expense in the year when the shareholders have resolved that the earnings shall be retained.

Derivative financial instruments

Foreign currency forward exchange contracts (forward contracts), entered into for purposes other than trading are recorded as follows: the differences in the New Taiwan dollar amounts translated using the spot rates and the amounts translated using the contracted forward rates are amortized over the terms of the forward contracts using the straight-line method. At the balance sheet dates, the receivables or payables arising from forward contracts are restated using the prevailing spot rates and the resulting differences are recognized in income. Also, the receivables and payables related to the forward contract are netted out and the resulting net amount is presented as either an asset or liability.

The Company enters into interest rate swap transactions to manage interest rate fluctuations on liabilities. These transactions are accounted for on an accrual basis, in which cash settlement receivable or payable is recorded as an adjustment to interest income or expenses.

The notional amounts of the foreign currency option contracts entered into for hedging purposes are not recognized as either assets or liabilities on the contract dates.

Other foreign-currency transactions

Other foreign-currency transactions are recorded in New Taiwan dollars at the rates of exchange in effect when the transactions occur. Gains or losses caused by the application of different foreign exchange rates when cash in foreign currency is converted into New Taiwan dollars, or when foreign-currency receivables and payables are settled, credited or charged to income in the year of conversion or settlement. At period-end, the balances of foreign-currency assets and liabilities are restated based on prevailing exchange rates and any resulting gains or losses are credited or charged to income.

Capital surplus except for that arising from the application of the equity method of accounting, pursuant to ROC Company Law, can only be used to offset a deficit or transferred to capital (as a stock dividend). Such transfer from capital surplus to capital can only be made once a year at a specific percentage. An amendment to the ROC Company Law issued on November 14, 2001, limited the nature of the capital surplus that can be used to offset a deficit or transferred to capital (as a stock dividend) to those that arise from donations (donated capital) and those attributable to the excess of the issue price over the par value of capital stock issued.

The Company's Articles of Incorporation provide that the following shall be appropriated from annual net income (less any deficit):

- a. 10% legal reserve;
- b. Special reserve in accordance with relevant laws or regulations;
- c. Bonuses to directors and supervisors and to employees equal to 1% and at least 1% of the remainder, respectively;
- d. Dividends to holders of preferred shares equal to a 3.5% annual rate, based on the period during which the preferred shares have been outstanding;
- e. The appropriation of the remaining balance after the above shall be decided at the shareholder's meeting;

These appropriations of net income shall be resolved by the shareholders in the following year and given effect in the financial statements of that year.

Dividends are distributed in cash and/or in the form of shares of stock. Since the Company is in a capital-intensive industry, distribution of profits shall be made preferably by way of stock dividend. The total of cash dividend paid (in any given year) should not exceed 50% of total dividends paid and/or distributed.

The aforementioned appropriation for legal reserve shall be made until the reserve equals the aggregate par value of the Company's outstanding capital stock. The reserve can only be used to offset a deficit; or, when its balance has reached 50% of the aggregate par value of the outstanding capital stock of the Company, up to 50% thereof can be distributed as stock dividend.

Pursuant to existing regulations promulgated by the Securities and Futures Commission, a special reserve equivalent to the debit balance of any account shown in the shareholder equity section of the balance sheets, other than the deficit, shall be made from unappropriated retained earnings. The special reserve shall be adjusted accordingly based on the debit balance of such accounts as at year-end. As of December 31, 2001, prior year's accumulated deficit in the amount of $1,803,168 from WSMC is included in the unappropriated retained earnings.

Under the Integrated Income Tax System that became effective on January 1, 1998, ROC resident shareholders are allowed a tax credit for the income tax paid by the Company on earnings generated starting January 1, 1998. An Imputation Credit Account (ICA) is maintained by the Company for such income tax and the tax credit allocated to each shareholder. The maximum credit available for allocation to each shareholder cannot exceed the balance shown in the ICA on the date of distribution of dividends.

The Company issued 1,300,000 thousand unlisted Series A - preferred shares to certain investors. The foregoing preferred shares will be redeemed within thirty months from their issuance. The terms and conditions in respect to the issuance of the preferred shares provides that, until the shares are redeemed, their holders:

- a. Are entitled to receive cumulative cash dividends at an annual rate of 3.5%.
- b. Are not entitled to receive any stock dividends (whether declared out of unappropriated earnings or capital surplus).
- c. Have priority over the holders of common shares to the assets of the Company available for distribution to shareholders upon liquidation or dissolution of the Company. However, the preemptive rights to the assets shall not exceed the issue value of the shares.
- d. Have voting rights similar to that of the holders of common shares.
- e. Have no right to convert their shares into common shares.

b) Interest rate swaps

The Company has entered into interest rate swap contracts to hedge exposure to rising interest rates on its floating rate long-term loans. These significant transactions are summarized as follows:

Contract Date	Period	Amount (Thousand)
April 28, 1998	May 21, 1998 to May 21, 2003	US$2,000,000
April 29, 1998	May 21, 1998 to May 21, 2003	1,000,000
June 26, 1998	June 26, 1998 to June 26, 2003	1,000,000

Interest expenses on these transactions for the year ended December 31, 2001 were $473,413.

c) Option contracts

The Company has entered into foreign currency option contracts to hedge risks of exchange rate fluctuations arising from its anticipated U.S. dollar cash receipts from its export sales or Japanese Yen obligations related to its importation of machinery and equipment.

Outstanding option contracts as of December 31, 2001 were as follows:

Contract	Currency	Contract Amount (Thousand)	Carrying Value	Fair Value (Thousand)	Strike Price	Maturity
Put option sell	EUR	EUR 293,000	($ 39,500)	($252,833)	0.8940 - 0.9340 (EUR/US$)	Jan. - Feb. 2002

For the year ended December 31, 2001, the Company realized premium income of $328,254 and premium expense of $93,522.

d) Transaction risk

- i) Credit risk. The banks, which are the counter-parties to the foregoing derivative financial instruments, are reputable financial institutions. Management believes its exposures related to the potential default by those counter parties are low.
- ii) Market price risk. All derivative financial instruments are intended as hedges for fluctuations in currency exchange rates on the Company foreign currency denominated receivables or payables and interest rate fluctuations on its floating rate long-term loans. Gains or losses from forward exchange contracts are likely to be offset by gains or losses from receivables and payables. Interest rate risks are also controlled as the expected cost of capital is fixed. Thus, market price risks from exchange rate and interest rate fluctuations are minimal.
- iii) Liquidity and cash flow requirements. The cash flow requirements on the derivative instruments are limited to the net differences between the spot rates and contracted forward rates at settlement dates (for forward contracts); and amounts payable arising from the differences in the rates (for interest rate swap contracts). Also, options may not have to be exercised at all in cases where the strike price is higher than the related market price at exercise dates. Management believes that the foregoing requirements are not material.
- 2) Fair value of financial instruments

- c) Refundable deposits and guarantees deposits – carrying values.
- d) Long-term bank loans – based on forecasted cash flows discounted at interest rates of similar long-term liabilities. Bonds payable is discounted at present value. Fair values of other long-term liabilities are also their carrying values as they use floating interest rates.
